"All the Comforts of Home" may now be acted in London without danger of legal interference. It is because the author of the American original, "Ein Teller, Einfaß!" transferred the English rights for sale to two different agents, and each found a customer. One of these was a Mr. Duckworth, who promptly adapted the German piece, and brought it forward under the title of "In Charge." When William Gillette's version was purchased for London at the Duckworth place, with a two years' priority, confronted the American farce, and pay a fraternal visit. He said he was the editor of a paper, and merely dropped in to see the editor and reporters of another paper. He said he was Tello d'Apéry, editor of the Sunny Hour.

Last Christmas Editor d'Apéry got up a Christmas tree for the bare-footed children of the town, and distributed a good many pairs of shoes and socks and coats and clothes among the unfortunates. The clothing was sent him by charitable people. Most of it was second hand and much worn. The little boy editor and philanthropist paid out of his own pocket for the repairing of these clothes, and the great feast of Christmas was celebrated in celebration. Yesterday he sent this letter to THE SUN:

"MR. DAWA—Dear Sir: I would like to ask you to send a pair of little shoes in your paper to the little boy who has been having a very hard time."

Increased Value of Farm Products. WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The statistical returns of the Department of Agriculture for December give the average farm prices of agricultural products. The average price of corn by present returns is 50.1 cents per bushel, against 28.3 cents for the crop of 1889, an increase of 77 per cent. It is the highest December price of the decade, except that of 1881, when the average price rose to 63.6 cents. The prices in the seven corn surplus States are: Ohio, 51 cents; Indiana, 47; Illinois, 49; Iowa, 41; Missouri, 44; Kansas, 51; Nebraska,

The average price of oats is 42.2 cents, against 39 cents last year. It is the highest
